ARRESTS SHOW POVERTY CASES

Children Sent to Beg Taken Into Custody by the Police.

The arrest of three fittle children on the upper west side to-day led the police misery of the families occupying them sworn as a witness, were such that charity was immediately necessary. The children arrested, Jesse McIntyre, five years old; and Mary McIntyre, twelve years old. of No. 247 West Sixtieth street, and Mabel Dixon, twelve years old, of No. 140 West Sixtieth, were begging at the doors of fashionable homes in the district, In a drug store at Sixty-ninth street and Columbus avenue, where the children were taken by detectives, Mrs. Bage, who is interested in many local charities, insisted that the detectives should investigate the stories told by he children. The children said that it was the poverty of their families which had forced them into the street to beg. At the McIntyre home conditions were deplorable. There was no carpet on the floors, the furniture was scant, and there was but one mattress in the house. There was nothing in the way of food. . The mother said her husband had deserted her and that she had five children, only one of whom was old enough to be a wage-earner. In the Dixon home there was no fire and the family was suffering intensely from the cold weather. Mrs. Bage interested herself in the cases immediately. The police say they a little more than two hours the jury made the arrests because hundreds of complaints had been made to them of murder in the first degree, about children begging on the west side for money and food.
